September Issue Highlights:

- Post Patent Market Update-Glyphosate
- Country Reports: Australia & New Zealand
- Formulation Science: How Auxin Herbicides Are Making a Comeback

Post Patent Market Report: Glyphosate Outlook

With the implementation of environmental standards in China, glyphosate prices and supply still can be volatile. FCI will offer an outlook heading into 2015 on what will have an impact on supply from China and India, and also expected demand trends.

Country Reports: Australia & New Zealand

The countries' varied ports create opportunities and challenges. Hampered by severe drought conditions in the past, FCI will explore the rejuvenated crop input market, free trade agreements, illegal pesticides, resistance management and other factors influencing these major developed markets and the opportunities that lie within.

Formulation Science: Combination Products Emerge

2,4-D, diacamba and other legacy products are resurging to help manage glyphosate-resistant weeds, drift and other agronomic issues. Learn how combination products, pre-mixes and formulation technology can help extend the usefulness of legacy chemistries and unveil opportunities for maximizing profits for post-patent companies.
